REPORTED ROBBERY.

A Man Claims to Have Been Gone Through for $20 Last Night. Case of Drunkenness.

It was reported this morning that a man had been robbed in town last night. A ter diligent enquiry we are now need that no robbery occurred. I was simply a case of drunk with a trip across the branch and an interesting of vile associates, where money flowed free as did the wine during the night's debauch. On a misadventure awakening this morning he was minus twenty dollars. He may not go home any richer but certainly a wiser man.

TIRED OF LIFE.

D. P. King of Mannsville Suicides By Shooting Himself Last Sunday With a Shot Gun.

It is learned that D. P. King of Mannsville on last Sunday evening shot and killed himself. Deceased was a brother of William King, the jeweler of this city. From what could be learned he had been despondent some time but his friends thought he had about subdued his troubles whatever they were, and was about to assume his usual cheerful mood. On last Sunday afternoon, however, he obtained a double barreled shot gun and after careful arranging it so that the charge would enter his vitals—the stomach, he took a stick and pushed the trigger. Death was almost instantaneous. He was buried yesterday. Mr. King was a man well liked and highly respected. His rash act was undoubtedly the result of a fit of temporary insanity. The Ardmoreite extends sympathy to the surviving relatives in their unfortunate and sad bereavement.

Romance at an End.

The announcement is officially made that the chiefest savage in these United States, Geronimo, will shortly be released from confinement in an Alabama prison and turned loose again upon the unsuspecting people of New Mexico and Arizona. Protests against this course are being filed in Washington, but they will amount to nothing in view of the decision made by the War Department that Geronimo has become civilized and will hereafter conduct a farm. Six years of imprisonment, it is said, have taught this wild Westerner that the life is more money in raising cabbages than scalps and the conviction has become settled with Secretary Lamont that all Geronimo needs now is fresh air and good soil to transform him into a first class Populist.

It is significant, in the meantime, that the War Department has issued an order releasing from duty 150 Indian scouts. This means that the old time war against the original owners of this soil is at end, and that hereafter it will be conceded that the Indians have rights in common with those of white people and that cannons will not be needed to enforce recognition of these rights. More than passing interest should be attached to these two concomitant facts. The release of Geronimo from imprisonment and the discharge of Indian scouts means a great deal to the American people. It signifies the termination of all feuds with the red man, for one thing. It means, for another, that the United States Government has got all it can possibly hope to get from the uncivilized tribes and that hereafter no war of persecution or prosecution will be allowed. It means that there will be no more war in the west and that the Indians are henceforth to participate in the citizenship which makes this government the best and greatest beneath the sun.

The Cleveland administration is to be accredited with many good deeds, but among its remarkable and memorable achievements must be placed the credit of having wiped from existence the romance of the red Indian and the establishment in his place of a citizen who will prove faithful, industrious and far more profitable than when he roamed the sandhills of New Mexico as a terror to the army of the United States.

Geronimo has now a chance to become the agricultural M-s-s of the Apaches. He will be more picturesque in that character than as a scalp raiser.—R. public.

Bitten by a Spider.

Mr. J. T. Williams was bitten by a spider yesterday and for some time thereafter his condition was very serious. He suffered terrible agony and it was feared he would take the lock jaw. Drs. Modrall and Post were called in and after applying certain remedies the sufferer was relieved. The crisis passed and today Tom is about as well and supple as ever.—Gainesville Register.
